L.A. Metro selects HDR to provide final design of North Hollywood to Pasadena BRT Corridor Project

“The North Hollywood to Pasadena Transit Corridor will significantly reduce travel times for riders on this corridor, improving access to jobs, healthcare and more,” said HDR Principal Engineer Mark Christoffels, who is leading the firm’s work. “It’s great to work on projects that make such a tangible contribution to people’s everyday lives.”

HDR will provide a variety of design services, including civil and roadway, station, traffic and more. Coordination among the many stakeholders and agencies is critical to success. The project is being delivered via the construction manager/general contractor approach. Working with the contractors, HDR has dedicated teams to each jurisdiction to accelerate progress in each section and help avoid unnecessary delays.

“Designing a multi-jurisdictional corridor isn’t something every team can take on and I’m proud that HDR was chosen for this complex project,” said HDR Global Transit Director Matt Tucker. “This BRT will provide better transit options to busy neighborhoods in need of improved mobility options and I’m looking forward to seeing the new service in operation a few years from now.”

Construction on the corridor is expected to begin in 2025, with revenue service scheduled for 2027.
